

Battle Cry of Freedom

SATB with piano, flute and percussion

Battle Cry was a favorite marching song of both the Union and Confederate soldiers during the Civil War. This rousing arrangement has two verses from each, with optional verses original to the George R. Root text. The flute and percussion add verve and authenticity. Unison verses offer solo opportunities. Great selection for patriotic programs.

Moderately easy

A-111054 Choral Score with piano, flute and percussion included

$1.95

A111054

Battle Cry of Freedom

SATB, Piano, Flute, Percussion

George F. Root
Adapted for Confederacy by H.L. Scheiner and W. H. Barnes

George F. Root
Arr. Teresa Tedder

Union Version

11
S A Baritone solo or
T B mf Men in unison.
Yes, we'll ral-ly round the flag, boys, we'll

Arrangement © 2008 Teresa Tedder

2

14
S A
T B ral-ly once a-gain, Shout-ing the bat-tle cry of free-dom. We will 17
S A
T B ral-ly from the hill-side, we'll gath-er from the plain, Shout-ing the bat-tle cry of 20

S A T B f
free-dom. The Un-ion for-ev-er, Hur-rah, boys, hur-rah!

3

23
S A
T B
Down with the Trait-or, Up with the Star. While we ral-ly round the flag, boys, 26
S A
T B
Ral-ly once a-gain, shout-ing the bat-tle cry of Free-dom.
29
S A T B mf
We are spring-ing to the call for Three